[FSmockup]

Starting page with "Fantastic Stories" icon.

It is shown while the app loads.

Sign in 1st step

This page should be shown only when the app is first opened or when the user has logged out while using the app last time. Otherwise the app should remember the user.

After clicking on "Sign in", user sees the page " Login page 2nd step".

After clicking on "create an account", user sees the page "Create an account".

Sign in 2nd step

Like before, this page should be shown only when the app is first opened or when the user has logged out while using the app last time.

User enters his/hers username and login and clicks on "Sign in" button to proceed.

User has an option to restore his/hers username and/or password as well as read the app policy. Both options are available through links to the app www site.

Create an account

Like before, this page should be shown only when the app is first opened or when the user has logged out while using the app last time.

In order to create an account, user has to provide his/her future username, e-mail adress (necessary in case of forgetting the username / password) and password.

User may add his/her profile picture.

App verifies if the username is unique, if e-mail has valid format and if password is entered into both password related text fields in the same way, if picture provided by the user is of proper format and size.

User can see the app policy by clicking on link "About & Policy".

After clicking on "Create an account button" the account is created, the app sends a welcome e-mail with basic info to users e-mail adress and user is redirected to the app main page.

Main Page

Main page contains 5 buttons:

- "Sign out" - closes the app and signs the user out,

- "Look through issues" redirects to a page with a full list of pubished stories sorted by issue,

- "Look for story/user" redirects to a search tool,

- "Add a review" redirects to a page with an editable text field,

- "More" is present on "My reviews" and "Other users reviews" tabs and redirects to 2 different pages according to the tab the user currently is on.

The most important part of Main Page is a Tabs Bar that allows to look through the user's reviews, look through other users reviews or look through his/her favorite user accounts. In first case the reviews can be sorted by creation date, ranking position and issue number (both downwards and upwards).

Each review preview contains the review author and title, the story title (and in case of foreign stories their original titles), the author's name, issue number, user's rating and review firs sentence.

"More" button redirects to the list of all user reviews with more sorting options.

In the upper left corner there's user's profile picture and a welcome sentence. By clicking on it user can check his/her account.

Main page - other users reviews

On the second tab user can look through other users reviews. The reviews can be sorted by creation date, ranking position and issue number (both downwards and upwards), just like on the firs tab.

Each review preview contains the review title, the story title (and in case of foreign stories their original titles), the author's name, issue number, user's rating and review firs sentence.

In addition, it contains the name of the author of the review.

"More" button redirects to the list of all reviews with more sorting options.

Main page - my favorite users

On the third tab the user can look through his/her favorite users' profiles. They can be sorted by the number of reviews or alphabetically (both downwards and upwards).

Each of those simple profiles contains a profile picture, a username, a clicable icon indicating the number of reviews written by this user (which redirects to a list of reviews by this person) and a "dislike" button (allowing the user to remove someone's profile from this list).

User's account

On this page user can change his/her e-mail adress, password, profile picture. The only thing that is not allowed to change is his/her username.

Four buttons on this page allow as follows:
- to cancel changes,
- to save changes,
- to delete the account,
- to sing out from the app.

Look through issues

This page contains a three-level accordion list:
- first level: years, backward, from now to the year of first issue of Nowa Fantastyka,
- second level: year's list of issues,
- third level: issue's list of stories.

Each level is clicable.

The third level is the most complex. Each item displays the story title (plus its original title if it's of forein origin), the author's name, the editable rating (10 stars - user can see how he/she has rated the story earlier or rate the story by clicking on stars) and two icons:
- "add a review icon" or "see your review icon" depending on former creation of the review,
- "number of reviews written by other users icon".

Each icon is clicable and leads to proper page.

User scrolls through the items on every level of the accordion.

Look for a story or for a user

This page is composed of a search search box, a bar with three filter options (title, author and username), search button and two additional, optional filter combo boxes (year and issue number) which become active only when user checks "title" or "author" option. First to become active is the "year" combo box, after selecting an item from within the list, user may choose from the "issue number" box.

After clicking on "Search" button or hitting Enter, user is redirected to the Search result page (in two variants depending on the content it displays).

If user leaves the search box emty, the search results page shows all the users / stories. If user leaves the search box empty, but has chosen a year or/ and an issue number, the search results page shows the suitable range of stories.

Search result - stories

This version of Search results page displays found stories. User may sort the results depending on number of stars he/she has awarded, total number of reviews, chronological order of publication (both upwards and downwards).
User may, but doesn't have to, chose from two additional options: "Only reviewed by me" and "Not reviewed by me".
Story previews shown in search results are composed of: the story title (plus its original title if it's of forein origin), the author's name, the editable rating (10 stars - user can see how he/she has rated the story earlier or rate the story by clicking on stars) and two icons:
- "write review icon" or "see your review icon" depending on former creation   of the review,
- "number of reviews written by other users icon".
Each icon is clicable and leads to a proper page.
User may scroll through the items on the list.

Search result - users

This version of Search results page displays found users. User may sort the results depending on total number of reviews and alphabethically (both upwards and downwards).
User may, but doesn't have to, chose from two additional options: "Only my farovites" and "Without my favorites".
Those simple profiles contain a profile picture, a username, a clicable icon indicating the number of reviews written by this user (which redirects to a list of reviews by this person) and a "like/dislike" button (allowing the user to   add or remove someone's profile from this list).
User may scroll through the items on the list.

Add a review

This page changes depending on if user enters it by clicking a "Add a review" button or if he/she enters it via specific story.
In the first scenario user starts from choosing a year, than he/she can choose an issue number and finally the story title from within stories published in that specific issue.
In the second scenario those three fields are already set and the user can't change them.
User rates the story by clicking on one from 10 stars, enters the review title of his/her choice, writes down the review and than chooses if he/she wants to save it only for him/herself or if he/she preferes to save it an publish it for other users to read.
After that user may quit to the main page.
The review is saved along with the date of its creation.

See your review

This page is very similar to "Add a review" in the mode "entered from a specific story", which means that year, issue number and story title fields are already set and   user can't change them.
User rates the story by clicking on one from 10 stars, enters the review title of his/her choice, writes down the review and than chooses if he/she wants to save it only for him/herself or if he/she preferes to save it an publish it for other users to read.

After that user may quit to the main page.

See other user's review

This page is very similar to two precedent pages, but of course is not editable, without a little exeption.

Additional text field concerns the review author.

The "Like" icon allows to add or remove user from the users list of favorites, and that is the only editable thing on this page.

Three buttons at the bottom of the page allow user to check other reviews by the same user, check other reviews of this story or quit to main page.

Review list

This page presents all reviews previews.

They can be sorted by creation date, ranking position and issue number (both downwards and upwards).

case
rating

Each review preview contains the review author and title, the story title (and in of foreign stories their original titles), the author's name, issue number, user's and review first sentence.

If the page is entered via "Check other reviews by this user" button, then it shows reviews only by one user. If it is entered via "Check other reviews of this story" button, it shows only the reviews of that specific story.

Two additional combo boxes allow to show only reviews that concern specific year or specific issue.
